

CONTINUOUS PURSUIT AND THE ONE-YEAR CHAIN

Track each decision date and file an eligible next review option within the applicable period.

PURPOSE	GENERAL PERIOD	KEY CONTROL
Preserve a potential effective-date chain	One year for most covered reviews	A new decision starts a new analysis

REVIEW FIRST

Continuous pursuit can preserve a potential effective date when an eligible review option is filed within the applicable period after each decision. It does not guarantee the final effective date.

THE CHAIN | ONE DECISION AT A TIME

KEEP THE REVIEW SEQUENCE CONNECTED

VA issues a decision
Record the date on the notice, every issue decided, and the available review options.

➤

File an eligible review
Use the correct HLR, Supplemental Claim, or Board Appeal form within the applicable period.

VA issues the next decision
Read the new notice. The next review choice and deadline depend on that decision.

CONTROL DATE
Build a deadline log from the date on each decision notice. Keep the review request and proof that the VA received it.

AVAILABLE NEXT STEPS | GENERAL AMA PATTERN

WHAT CAN FOLLOW EACH DECISION?

SC
After a Supplemental Claim
Another Supplemental Claim, HLR, or Board Appeal may be available, depending on the issue and timing.

HLR
After Higher-Level Review
A Supplemental Claim or Board Appeal may be available. A second HLR in a row on the same issue is not the ordinary path.

BVA
After a Board decision
A Supplemental Claim supported by new and relevant evidence or an appeal to CAVC may be available.

DATE FILE | WHAT TO PRESERVE

MAINTAIN A SIMPLE APPEAL LEDGER

✓ Decision date
Use the date on the notice for the issue being reviewed.

✓ Issue description
Write the condition, percentage, effective date, or other disputed benefit question.

✓ Chosen lane and form
Record HLR 20-0996, Supplemental 20-0995, or Board 10182.

✓ Evidence window
Record whether the lane is closed or when the permitted evidence period ends.

✓ Receipt proof
Keep the confirmation, fax receipt, tracking result, or date-stamped copy.

✓ Next decision
Add the next notice to the ledger and repeat the analysis.

BOUNDARIES | DO NOT OVERSTATE

CONTINUOUS PURSUIT DOES NOT DECIDE EVERY EFFECTIVE-DATE QUESTION

LAW
Special rules can control
Separation, increases, presumptions, liberalizing laws, Nehmer, CUE, and other rules can change the analysis.

LATE
A late filing can break the chain
A later Supplemental Claim may still be allowed, but the potential effective date may be different.

CAVC
Court deadline is different
A Notice of Appeal to CAVC generally must be received within 120 days after the Board mailed the final decision.

POTENTIAL, NOT PROMISED

Filing within one year can preserve continuous pursuit, but the final effective date still depends on the governing rule, the claim history, entitlement, and the facts found.
